

I didn't want her to scold me, so I followed your advice and redraw it.

This picture has improved a lot. Please also include my name as the author.

~Day20~ I don't need your advice!

Hey! I think the portrait you draw of Ms. Maizono for our high school brochure should have a smile face.

When I draw manga during her class, she always has this look on her face.

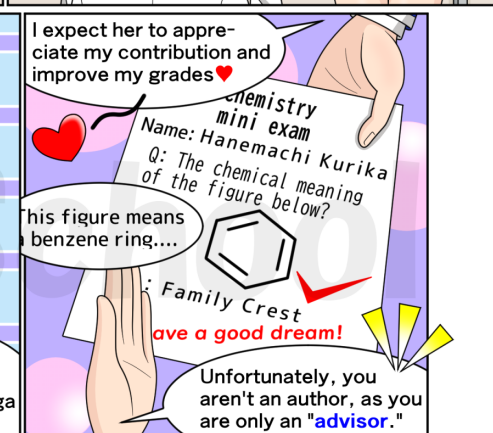

Excuse me?

Then let me give you some advice.

Btw, my advice to you is "Don't draw."

That's right. Because you are the only one who actually drew this picture.

Isn't a person who only gave advice to a manga artist an author?

I expect her to appreciate my contribution and improve my grades.

Unfortunately, you aren't an author, as you are only an "advisor."

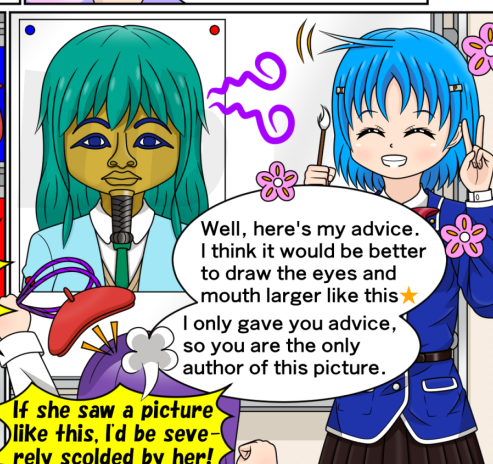

Mmm...

Shh!

You're like a drawing witch. Until I finish making the manga, please remain silent.

Misube has a bort license, so she's used to handling ropes.

Well, here's my advice. I think it would be better to draw the eyes and mouth larger like this.

I only gave you advice, so you are the only author of this picture.

If she saw a picture like this, I'd be severely scolded by her!
