

This ice cream doesn't look good, but it has a vanilla flavor and is delicious. Whew!

I like plain vanilla, but I also like exotic ♥

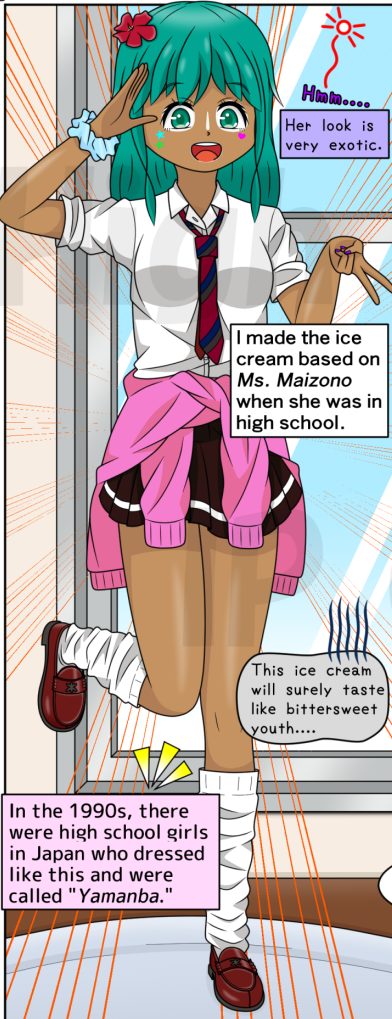

~ Part24 ~
Class-1 Securities Sales Representative

I never expected her to decorate so exotically...

Let's try the ice cream that we made in the cooking practice.

Why didn't you decorate that, Beret?

Because I was making another ice cream.

Hmm... Her look is very exotic.

I made the ice cream based on Ms. Maizono when she was in high school.

This ice cream will surely taste like bittersweet youth....

In the 1990s, there were high school girls in Japan who dressed like this and were called "Yamanba."

By exotic you mean my ice cream?

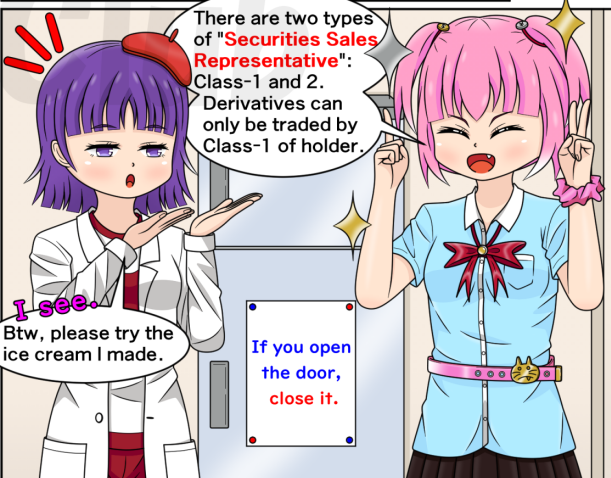

"Exotic" is an investment term! You've probably heard of financial derivatives such as futures trading.

By exotic refer to derivatives that are structurally complex.

Plain vanilla refers to a derivative with a simple structure.

It's an interesting expression, huh?

There are two types of "Securities Sales Representative": Class-1 and 2. Derivatives can only be traded by Class-1 of holder.

I see. Btw, please try the ice cream I made.

If you open the door, close it.
